(b) A large number of persons have been appointed as Supervisors Checkers and Compilers in the Tabulation Offices set up in different parts of the country for compilation and tabulation of the 1991 Census data. These persons also include certain 1981 Census retrenched employees who could not get themselves absorbed in the Central/State Government Departments taking advantage of the concessions like age relaxation and priority in employment through Employment Exchanges extended by the Government. These persons have been engaged on consolidated salary on contract basis for specified short period. After the work for which they have been engaged is over, the Tabulation Offices will be wound up and the staff disbanded. At present there is no scheme under consideration for adjusting or absorbing the retrenched employees directly in the Departments of the Government.
